Synopsis: Accompanied by two botanical guides, a group of hikers embarks on a journey through the enchanting landscapes of Arrábida Natural Park. As they traverse the park's diverse flora and fauna, they uncover evidence of a troubling transformation: rather than the work of nature, it becomes clear that human intervention is reshaping this once-pristine environment.

Inês Lima

Inês Lima (Setúbal) is an independent artist that explores the moving image, soundscapes, writing and film programming.
She has been working the analog medium as an experimental vehicle in her work, intersecting personal themes with nature and ecology, traditions and memory, antagonisms and superstitions.
Her work has been shown at national and international film festivals, and exhibited in cultural venues such as the Cinemateca Portuguesa, MALBA Museum (Argentina) or the Tabakalera Cultural Center (Spain).
She worked as a film programmer at the IndieLisboa International Film Festival between 2019 and 2022.
