Synopsis: Black Box is a trip from darkness to light, from silence to sound, from solitude to friendship. Ana is 6 years old and spends most of her time locked in the basement with her toys and a strange box that hypnotises her with fabulous images and sounds. One day Ana breaks that spell and discovers a friend to play with, beyond the box.

Nuno Amorim

Born in April, 1952. With his background in architecture, worked as an art director in FCB and Publicis Advertising Agencies, moving afterwards to RTP, Portuguese public television, where he began as a graphic designer, then as director and was afterwards head of the graphic department. There, he wrote and directed several short animation films, documentaries and cultural series, being also responsible for a large part of the motion graphics produced by RTP from 1985 to 1998.

Started Animais AVPL production company in 1991, where he is currently director and producer.
